ETHIOPS IN GRIP OF MAJOR WAR

Italian Offensive Intensified with News of Secret Advance Along British Colony.

PARALLEL GRAZIANI DRIVE

Reported To Have Led Enemy Into Trap and Slaughtered Thousands in Onslaught.

BY CHARLES [illegible]
Associated Press Foreign Staff

The Ethiopian war [illegible] to day from the status of a secondary colonial expedition into real war with thousands of casualties and well defined maneuvers

With many thousand killed and wounded on the northern front a hitherto semi-secret advance of Italians on the southern front along the frontier of Kenya, a British colony, was reported

The advance was that of a part-motorized division commanded by Gen. Agostini whose movements previously have been only hinted at in Italian communiques

Today it was established that he and his men have penetrated into the valley of the Dawa Parma in a punitive movement paralleling the hell on wheels column under the command of Gen. Rodolfo Graziani which has battled its way 200 miles into the interior from Dolo on the Italian Somaliland border

Agostini's men meeting a stiff resistance were reported to have led an Ethiopian counter attack in to a trap massacring thousands of natives caught in the enfilading fire of machine guns

The trap was sprung near Sadei upon an Ethiopian army under the command allegedly of a Greek sol

10,000 PASS GEORGE'S CASKET EVERY HOUR

Closing of Chamber Doors Brings Protesting Marchers to Baldwin's Office

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Jan. 27.—Great Britain's national pilgrimage past the bier of King George V rose to a rate of 10,000 persons an hour at the last day of the lying-in-state in Westminster Hall today after early morning scenes in which mourners protested an early closing of the chamber doors

One delegation of mourners marched to No. 10 Downing street to object because the entrance was closed more than two hours earlier than had been announced before being reopened to admit the ever swelling crowds from all quarters

The protesting marchers led by a woman were not allowed to rouse Prime Minister Stanley Baldwin but Scotland Yard explained later that the hall was closed to allow "cleaners to perform their duties

The crowds came from all directions and from all walks of life to join the queue later in the day despite rain. A line 10 abreast stretched more than a mile along the Thames by mid morning

The new king Edward VIII meanwhile, returned to Buckingham palace after spending the week-end at his Fort Belvedere country estate

At the same time King Carol of Rumania one of the five visiting kings for the funeral tomorrow of the late English sovereign arrived at Dover aboard a British destroyer and came to London by special train

Mercury at 9 Below in New Cold Wave

A cold wave that struck the city Sunday close on the heel of the bitterest weather Marion has experienced in 37 years pushed the mercury down to nine below zero here last night

Its upward climb this morning was slow. At noon it was zero Dr. F. H. Raffensperger government weather observer for Marion said. At 2:30 it was 6 above

Marion prepared for more sub-zero temperatures tonight but was cheered by government weather forecasts that temperatures will start to rise slowly Tuesday afternoon. Generally fair and continued cold tonight and early Tuesday is forecast by the government observers

Up to 16 Yesterday

The mercury went as high as 16 yesterday, a level that ordinarily is regarded as a cold weather reading. Coming after the paralyzing temperatures of last week when thermometers dropped as low as 18 below zero yesterday's weather seemed comparatively warm. Many churchgoers walked with overcoats unbuttoned and Marion residents generally greeted the moderation as a respite from the bitterness of the last several days

A recording thermometer in the Erie railroad yards shows the new cold wave sweeping in from the northwest hit Marion about 3 p. m. yesterday and started temperatures on their downward course toward last night's low. The rise that advanced the mercury to zero at noon today started in at 9 a. m. the thermometer showed

The effects of the bitter wave that struck Marion last Wednesday night had not completely worn off Saturday. The Saturday night low was two above zero, Dr. Raffensperger reported

A year ago Marion enjoyed the comparative warmth of temperature readings that varied between a high of 23 and a low of six above zero

Schools Still Closed

The new wave blocked plans to reopen Marion county's rural schools this morning. It was reported at the office of D. J. Mills county superintendent that only a few buildings were opened this morning and that difficulty in attempting to heat the buildings resulted in plans to close them at noon. Water pipes were reported frozen at the Pleasant township building

Difficulty in heating Marion city school buildings was reported this morning due to the quick drop in temperature last night and the fact that class rooms had been allowed to cool during the week-end. Supt. C. A. Hudson said attendance figures were low again today and that several buildings, including Harding High school were chilly during early classes today

George Whysall manager of the Marion Water Co. estimated this morning more than 300 Marion residents have had trouble since last Wednesday with water pipes freezing. He said damage resulted in some of the cases due to pipes bursting

Tonight's program of the weekly wrestling matches at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. gymnasium was cancelled today because of the weather

Firemen answered four calls since Saturday afternoon. One fire was caused by attempts to thaw a frozen automobile transmission and two others were attributed indirectly to the extreme cold

A party of Marion young women attending the province convention of Delta Theta Tau sorority in Middletown Saturday and Sunday were delayed several hours at Dayton yesterday on their homeward trip in a chartered bus. A breakdown of the bus attributed to the weather held up their return to Marion until early this morning

Former Marionite Dies

Today's news brought reports of the death of a former Marion man Gladys (Tommie) Thompson in a Covington, Ky., hotel Saturday due to the extreme cold. A

REFERENDUM ACTION NEAR

Certification of Water Plant Vote Petitions Due at Council Session Tonight.

RESOLUTION PREPARED

Enough Signers Obtained To Assure Decision at May 12 Primary, Officials Say.

A resolution certifying water works purchase referendum petition to the county board of elections and calling for a special vote on municipal purchase of the plant at the May 12 primary is to be submitted to city council at a regular meeting tonight

The referendum resolution if adopted tonight will be the final step in a movement to submit the municipal purchase question to Marion voters. The resolution will authorize the county board of elections to place the three purchase ordinances on ballots to be handed Marion voters giving them opportunity to revoke or affirm purchase of the plant as voted by the present city council

The resolution will [illegible] council has inspected the petition and found that the required 10 per cent of the vote cast for mayor at the last municipal election is represented by signatures on the petitions. City officials today said they were satisfied the required number slightly less than 1,900 has been obtained

Council also is to consider an ordinance appropriating sufficient money to pay January salaries and possibly several items of necessary expense for January. The ordinance was being prepared today and officials were uncertain what the month's appropriations would amount to but estimated it between $24,000 and [illegible]

Robert H. Stief chairman of the council finance committee said today the committee at a meeting Saturday night tentatively planned to meet January salary and wage payments on the basis of last year. Economies that will be necessary for 1936 will be worked out for the remaining 11 months later, Mr. Stief said

O. S. U. FOOTBALL PLAYERS ABSOLVED OF CHARGES

Court of Inquiry Clears 15 Grid Men of Davey's Allegations of Support by State.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Jan. 27—In a double barrelled ruling today 15 Ohio State football players whose names appeared on the state payroll at Columbus were absolved from all charges and insinuations

Two individual reports were made, clearing the athletes in the western conference, and the other by the Big Ten committee on the infraction of rules acting as a high court of inquiry. Members of the infraction committee were Prof. W. J. Moenkhaus of the University of Indiana and Prof. A. C. Callen of the University of Illinois

Davey Started Charges

The investigation resulted from a statement attributed to Gov. Martin L. Davey, of Ohio, last October when he was quoted as saying

"We have done everything we can to help the Ohio State team and have most of the football squad on the state payroll"

Later Gov. Davey explained in substance that he was only joking but the investigation was demanded of Maj. Griffith by the Ohio State athletic board

"After careful investigation and close study of the evidence," Maj. Griffith's report read, "it seems clear, first, that the 15 football men who were employed by the state of Ohio from Nov. 1, 1931 to Nov. 1, 1935, obtained their appointments on their own initiative and through the help of personal

NEW PROJECTS TO EMPLOY 576

WPA List Called "Tremendous Help" in Handling Marion Relief Problem

SPEEDY APPROVAL SEEN

Details of Work Program Drawn Up Engineer Essex Announced Today

Thirteen WPA county [illegible] projects submitted to the district government works office at Mansfield this morning will employ [illegible] relief clients, 176 more than originally estimated according to [illegible] outline of the projects given [illegible] commissioners by [illegible] WPA engineer here

A list of the projects [illegible] the signatures of O. C. McCue chairman of the board of commissioners and County Auditor Harry A. Mounts was mailed to the district office Saturday [illegible] Essex figures [illegible] show the jobs will cost [illegible] formerly estimated

Total cost of the projects has been set at $59,007.17 of which $37,199 will be borne by the federal government. This leaves $21,808.17 as Marion county's share. Of that amount the government will allow $7,282.75 for rental of county road machinery and equipment leaving only $14,[illegible] actual outlay in cash the county will have to meet. The county share of the cost will come out of 1936 gasoline tax money

The employment of 576 men on these projects will just about clean up our relief case load of male employables, Relief Director John Abel said today. Remaining will be approximately 125 employables most of whom are women. The case load of those classed as unemployables numbers around 600. Abel styled the WPA action a tremendous help in solving this county's relief problem. The county is to receive only $47,784 of state money to carry on the relief program the next six months. The first allocation from the state offers is expected to be made this week

The 13 WPA projects worked up by Engineer Essex are expected to be returned from the Mansfield office with final government approval within a week or 10 days. Several more days will be required to assign men to their jobs. The projects call for improvements on berms, ditches and drainage and repairing of bridges and culverts

New Dealers Map Drive With Eye on Smith Talk

Robinson of Arkansas Will Reply to Liberty League Speaker Over Radio Network Tomorrow Night.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 27.—Silent for the most part new deal leaders today charted their campaign strategy in view of Alfred E. Smith's threat to "take a walk" if the Democratic convention in June indorses what Smith is calling the [illegible] policies of the Roosevelt administration

FORMER MARIONITE IS VICTIM OF COLD

G. T. Thompson Found Frozen in Front of Home at Covington, Ky.

Death from exposure to the cold claimed Gladys Shields Thompson 36 former Marion man Saturday at 4:15 p. m. at St. Elizabeth hospital in Covington, Ky.

Mr. Thompson was found Wednesday night in the snow in front of his home in Covington and on Thursday was taken to the hospital

A deep cut on the back of his head led Coroner James F. Riffe of Covington to believe that Mr. Thompson slipped and fell, according to a Cincinnati news report and that the force of the fall injured his head and rendered him unconscious. Both his hands were frozen when he was found

Mr. Thompson known among his friends as Tommie, was a licensed pharmacist. He was educated in the Union county schools and studied for his license while living in Marion. He had been in Covington for the last seven years

The body was brought to Marion this morning to the home of the father Lewis M. Thompson of 569 Chestnut street where the funeral will be conducted Tuesday at 2 p. m. Dr. Howard L. Olewiler of the First Presbyterian church will officiate. Burial will be made in the Marion cemetery. Friends may view the body at the home tonight and at the funeral home after 11 a. m. Tuesday

Mr. Thompson was born March 2, 1899 in Union county to Lewis M. and Alice Dulin Thompson. His father was born in Union county and the mother, who died several years ago was a native of Delaware county.

He was married in Florida in 1931 to Miss Rose Gardner

Surviving with the father and widow are three sisters Miss Leora Thompson at home, Mrs. Lelia Gooden of Prospect and Mrs. W. W. Moore of Chicago and two brothers Odell Thompson of 619 Cherry street and William Thompson at home.

LEVY IN CITY UP SLIGHTLY

Rate for 1936 Set at 20 Mills, an Increase from 19.80 Mills Last Year.

STATE GIVES APPROVAL

Thirty-Seven of 45 Districts Get Reductions as Schools Receive Assistance.

Marion county real estate tax rates for 1936 which in all but eight of the 45 taxing districts are lower than in 1935 have been approved by the state tax commission. Approval was received today by County Auditor Harry A. Mounts

Although most of the taxing districts in the county will benefit by reductions Marion city property owners will pay a rate slightly higher than in 1935. The new rate is 20 mills or $20 on each $1,000 of property valuation. Last year the rate was 19.80 mills, 20 cents lower on each $1,000 of valuation

The city tax rate is made up of the following levies: schools 9.56 mills, city 4.50 mills, county 5.88 mills and Marion township .06 of a mill. The county levy applies to all subdivisions of the county

Rate reductions in the county resulted from aid given school districts through the state school foundation program, Auditor Mounts said today. With the assurance of state assistance at the rate of $30.00 for each elementary pupil and $40.50 for each high school pupil the rural school districts were able to reduce their budget requests. As a result the county budget commission which establishes the tax rates found the districts could be provided with their needs at lower rates

Work on Bills Starts

Work on figuring each property owner's 1936 tax bill already has been started in the auditor's office. This will require approximately two weeks and a like period will be required for preparation of tax statements in the treasurer's office. Collection will be started about March 1, officials indicated today

With the 1936 rates established the three principal political subdivisions of the county, the Marion city schools, the city government and the county government find themselves in different financial situations. The city schools face the brightest financial prospects of recent years, while the city and county governments are somewhat worse off than in 1935

Figures based on a 100 per cent tax collection show the city schools will have $307,081.88 for general operating expenses this year. This is $60,077.44 more than was available for this purpose last year

Foundation Plan Helps

The state school foundation program is responsible for the improvement in the school situation. The schools have been allotted $109,109.16 from that fund this year as compared with $162,235.09 received last year from the state. In addition to this a larger share of the county tax apportionment has been allotted to the schools in order to qualify them for participation in the state program

Of the total city levy of 20 mills the schools will receive 9.56 mills. The school rate last year was 8.50 mills. The new school rate is divided as follows: 2.50 mills within the 10 mill limitation will raise $83,809.87 for operating purposes; three mills outside the 10 mill limit (the levy renewed last fall) will raise $100,571.85 for operating purposes, and 4.06 mills will raise $136,108.42 for retirement of bonds

The schools' operating fund of $307,081.88 will come from the $83,809.87 and $100,571.85 from general taxes, the $109,109.16 from the foundation program and $13,590 from tuition and other sources

A comparison of the millage received by the schools for operating purposes for 1936 and in 1935 shows that the total is 5.50 this year and 4.21 last year. The increase comes in that portion within the 10 mill limitation, the three mill levy outside the limit remaining the same. The boost, which will add $41,932.21 to the school fund, was made to meet requirements of foundation program

School officials for the first time in several years find themselves in the unique position of receiving more than they asked in their budget for the year. The budget request for operating purposes was $396,100. In drawing their budget school officials anticipated a 13 per cent salary in-

COUNTY TAX RATES SET FOR THIS YEAR

[illegible] for [illegible]

The [illegible] 1,010,[illegible] [illegible]

Reduction for City

[illegible] the [illegible] picture [illegible] [illegible] poses in the [illegible] [illegible] been certified [illegible] Auditor [illegible] for general [illegible] available was $[illegible]

[illegible] revenue [illegible] was more than made up [illegible] by the allotment of $61,[illegible] to the city from the [illegible] tax.

The city's [illegible] rate [illegible] [illegible] mills to raise $[illegible] for [illegible] purposes [illegible] and firemen's pension [illegible] mill to raise $101,174 for [illegible] ment of bonds.

The remainder of [illegible] operating fund [illegible] from the following [illegible] balance Jan. 1, $1,186 [illegible] property [illegible] hospital [illegible] [illegible] liquor [illegible] and other [illegible] $1,8[illegible] [illegible] sales tax [illegible]

In addition to these funds the city will [illegible] from gasoline tax and automobile license sale. This money, however, must be used for street maintenance.

County Budget Hit

The county also is taking a big cut in [illegible] budget requests. Officials of this branch of the government must devise some method of meeting general operating expenses estimated at $285,[illegible] with the $190,0[illegible] available for the purpose. The budget was boosted considerably by efforts of officials to raise funds to pay off $5,000 in bills owed the state for keep of Marion county residents in state institutions and the necessity of $2,000 in fire insurance premiums this year.

Not only are available funds far below estimated expenses but they are lower by [illegible] than operating funds received last year. This is due primarily to the fact that $30,000 received from the automobile [illegible] for the general fund last year is not available this year. That money this year must be placed in the highway maintenance and repair fund.

The county's share of the tax rate this year is [illegible] mills as compared with 2.9[illegible] in 1935.

Of the total rate 2.50 mills will raise $11[illegible] for operating and the remaining [illegible] of a mill will raise $[illegible] for retirement of bonds.

Other sources of operating funds are sale [illegible] $10,000 and fees collected by various offices $40,000. The county road fund will receive $63,000 from auto tag fees and gasoline taxes.

Another $6,000 is cut from the county's operating fund by distribution of the sales tax revenue. With $74,000 to divide between the city and the county, all but $10,000 was given the city.

Other Rates

A list of rates shown in mills for all political subdivisions in the county together with the rate of increase or decrease is as follows:

S. E. JONES TO SEEK OFFICE OF RECORDER

[illegible] E. Jones, an employe of the [illegible] Co. for the last [illegible] years, announced [illegible] he will be a [illegible] candidate for [illegible] recorder at the May 12 primary. His announcement assures a two-sided race for the Republican nomination for that office, Carl H. Owens of 871 Sheridan road having previously announced as a Republican candidate.

Mr. Jones is making his first bid for public office. He said he has no campaign platform excepting that he is pledged to operate the office efficiently and economically if elected.

He and Mrs. Jones live at 467 Pearl street.

Ada, Ridgeway and Forest WPA and Road Jobs Getting Under Way.

Special to The Star

KENTON Jan. 27—WPA workers this week will start to excavate for Ada's new municipal swimming pool. The village purchased a tract of land adjoining Community park for the purpose.

Another WPA project expected to get under way within the next two days is the repainting of the interior of the Ridgeway school building. Arrangements also were made for an early start on cleaning and changing the channel of an open ditch in Forest at an estimated cost of $3,810 as a WPA project to be completed by March 15. Other recently approved projects include construction of roads in Cessna, Washington, McDonald, Lynn, Marion and Liberty townships at a cost of $15,221.

REPORT WEEK-END TRAFFIC MISHAPS

None Injured In Three Automobile Collisions Here

Three minor traffic accidents were reported to police over the week-end. Cars driven by R. E. Maston of 606 Park street and Leroy Detwiler of 535 Davids street were badly damaged in a collision at David and Wood streets Saturday at 11:35 a. m. According to the police report Mr. Maston was driving north on Davids street and sideswiped the other car traveling in the opposite direction when he skidded in attempting to pass another north bound car. No one was injured.

At 5:13 p. m. Saturday cars driven by S. M. Martin of 167 Clover street and William Roecker of 693 East Center street collided at the intersection of Greenwood and Center streets. The cars were only slightly damaged and no one was injured.

R. S. Wright of 211 South Cummin avenue reported to police that when he was driving north on Pearl street at 2:30 a. m. Sunday he collided with a parked coal truck owned by Max Yarrington of 715 East Church street when he was blinded by the lights of an approaching car. Mr. Wright was uninjured in the collision.

—. The :— Marry-Go-Round

BY HELEN ROWLAND

Almost anything will sell, in these days if it has the right advertising—and plenty of it.

And everything seems to be getting plenty of good advertising—from soft drinks to Santa Claus, and from galoshes to automobiles. Everything is pictured as wonderful, astounding, indispensable.

Everything — except marriage! Which has had the worst advertising and the most unflattering and destructive publicity in the world. And so much of it!

Jokesters aim their smartest and most scintillating wisecracks at it, songwriters delight to immortalize its comic side, and psychologists handle its problems without gloves and quote instances of its failure.

Statisticians tabulate the high percentage of divorces every year, lecturers and clergymen gravely warn young lovers of the dangers and pitfalls ahead of them. And the apostles of companionate marriage and the freer love have done their best to put marriage on the blink.

Yet in spite of all this damaging propaganda, good old marriage goes right on doing business at the same old stand. Indeed it continues to flourish like the green bay tree! And like the flivver and the rooner.

Now—if anything—a book, a play, a song or a custom continues to sell in spite of bad advertising and disadvantageous publicity, there must be something good about it. It must be the real thing and just what the public wants. Remember "Abie's Irish Rose"?

The truth is that marriage sells itself. It doesn't need any publicity, and no amount of bad advertising can hurt it. It is a household necessity and a spiritual luxury.

• • •

Of course it sometimes fails—but so do muffins and business ventures and the best of plays.

Won't somebody say just a few kind words for marriage? It's really a good old custom which should be encouraged. And it has probably done more for civilization and human happiness than any other one thing.

Marriage will always sell itself—but why not give it a break?

Treasury Department Smoke.

Quick denial of a report that Treasury Secretary Morgenthau is going to resign does not dispel the smoke which hangs over the treasury department. It is reasonable to suppose that where is smoke there is fire.

Treasury operations in the next year and a half will be of much more than ordinary magnitude. Mr Morgenthau, whatever may be his qualifications as an administrator, does not claim to be an expert in finance. It is no secret that he was made secretary of the treasury because he was in general agreement with the spirit of the new deal not because he understood the intricacies of finance.

For these reasons it is easy to believe that a change in the treasury department may be under consideration. President Roosevelt cannot expect to run the department by remote control. Mr Morgenthau, who never has inspired confidence in the financial community, reasonably might be expected to serve the administration in some capacity with fewer direct responsibilities.

The matter borrows importance not from Mr Morgenthau's possible resignation but from speculation on his possible successor. If there is to be a shift in which direction will the President move? Will he disregard considerations of experience with financial matters as he did when he appointed Mr Morgenthau or will he seek someone whose intimate knowledge of finance will inspire confidence? If there is to be a new secretary of the treasury, will he be a yes-man taking orders or an independent executive free to act on his own convictions?

Temperance.

Disagreement over policies is given as the cause of suspension of the recently organized Council of Moderation sponsored by John D Rockefeller Jr and Edsel Ford to combat excessive use of alcohol. Everett Colby the council's president, says members could not agree on what they wanted to do.

Everybody who hailed the Council of Moderation as a potentially effective agency of propaganda in behalf of the moderate use of alcohol will regret the disagreement. Yet it is not difficult to understand how disagreement could arise.

Such an agency could choose one of two approaches to the problem of abuse of alcohol. One approach would be positive, moderate drinking could be recommended. The other approach would be negative: the evils of alcohol could be stressed to discourage its use. The Council of Moderation used both approaches in its tentative program of advertising.

It is obvious however that the first approach coincides with that being used by the more enlightened liquor advertisers while the second coincides with the approach favored by prohibitionists. Naturally it didn't take the members of the council long to realize it was straddling the question.

But that isn't the root of the trouble. The root, as members of the council probably have discovered, is the presence among them of persons who think temperance is a synonym for prohibition. The confusion is not uncommon. It is in fact so prevalent that dictionaries acknowledge that the word "temperance" is defined narrowly as abstinence.

Deeply Impressed

Ohio is deeply impressed (Washington was impressed too) with reports of the Democratic harmony pilgrimage to the seat of the federal government. Whether or not Ohio's impressions and those of Washington all have occurred in the right place is a matter of doubt.

For instance many residents of Ohio are impressed disagreeably by Gov. Davey's recommendation of George White for appointment to the federal reserve board as a means of patching up the torn unity of the Democratic organization. It isn't particularly heartening to think of a federal reserve appointment as a plum for a political leader whose feelings have been injured. Perhaps the recommendation wasn't supposed to be taken too literally.

Ohio is impressed disagreeably also with the fact that Sen. Bulkley did not seem to be enthusiastic about seeing his political relatives when they came to town. May be the harmony idea was overplayed. Nor was Ohio favorably impressed by Gov. Davey's bland assurance that Ohio is 100 per cent for Roosevelt. That seemed to be laying it on pretty thick.

On the other hand no sensitive resident of the state could fail to be gratified by Gov. Davey's showmanship. When he got to Washington his own official limousine was waiting to whisk him to the capitol. His military aides sparkled with gold braid. A gawking innocent might have thought he was looking at a foreign dignitary on his way to the state department to present his credentials. If Washington didn't know it before it knows now that Ohio's governor isn't a man to be taken lightly. After all that was the purpose of the pilgrimage.

Who Makes The Rules?

The claim that federal courts should not have the right to counteract congressional and executive decisions helps to define the constitutional issue. It provokes the question of what congress and the executive would do if their acts were not subject to judicial review and opinion.

The effect would be similar to that which would be produced in football by suspending the rules. In that event the object of the game would be to advance the ball by any method which offered itself. Nothing would be barred.

Obviously the eventual reaction to such a condition would be the creation of new rules. The players would demand protection against tactics which they feared. By mutual consent new regulations would be devised and officials authorized to enforce them.

In all probability the new rules would be almost identical with the rules which previously had been abolished. It might be expected also that in the course of time the new rules too would be attacked and possibly abolished. Thereupon another period of irregularity would ensue until resentment of excess finally brought order out of chaos again.

In government the struggle to upset established rules is almost as common as the ceaseless effort to devise new rules. The current struggle is not therefore unusual. The United States is going through the same political emotionalism which has suspended rules of government abroad. Americans however happen to live under a system of government which handicaps destructionists.

The supreme court enforces the rules but the rules are made and maintained by the electorate through the power to amend the Constitution. The executive and legislative branches always eager for more authority must deal with the problem of fundamental law through a third agency which derives its power from the electorate also. Those who seek to abolish the court are placed in the embarrassing position of attacking a branch of the government which has a firmer hold on popular confidence than they have.

The constitutional issue therefore defines itself as a demand for unlimited power centered in the executive and legislative departments and the refusal by the electorate to grant unlimited power to those departments at the expense of the judicial department which enforces the rules of government.

It is plain that if existing rules were to be suspended by depriving federal courts of the right to consider the constitutionality of acts of congress the ultimate effect would be to establish new rules which thereupon would be as vigorously defended as the present rules now are. The same factions which now yearn for a change would find it desirable to entrench themselves. Eventually they would resort to the same defense which now angers them so much when it is employed against them.

The solution to their problem—and why do they seem to be afraid of it?—is to incorporate their ideas into one or perhaps more than one constitutional amendment, submit it to the electorate and hope they will find as much popular favor for their ideas as they find in their own minds.

Following Through.

No member of the house of representatives, no member of the senate reasonably can oppose tax legislation to defray the cost of the veterans bonus. Congressmen who have played football with the bonus issue for so many years must be made to play out their game to its logical conclusion.

The bonus debt belongs to the generation which incurred it. Theoretically it was to have been liquidated by a sinking fund. Instead it is to be liquidated by issuance of bonds added to an already overgrown national debt. The bonds presumably, will be added to the burden of a generation which will owe nothing to the veterans.

Eventually unless the current seizure of fiscal madness proves fatal the United States will pay the debt it has assumed. The only way to bring the country to its senses is to douse its spenders with the cold water of realization that the government must be supported by its people through taxation. The day of reckoning can't be put off forever.

Yet it is said that congress will not inflict new taxes before a national election. This significant assumption reveals how irresponsible the political monster has become. It is another way of saying that for the sake of buying votes congressmen are willing to invite financial disaster. They are anxious to distribute benefits but not to pay for them.

Fortunately some votes can't be bought. It is comforting to believe at least that almost as many votes will be lost by reckless spending as will be gained. President Roosevelt's belated stand against bonus payment announced in his veto message on the bill passed by both houses of congress represents a bloc larger than the bonus bloc but a bloc which lacks compactness.

Congressmen who voted for payment of the bonus should be willing to follow through. If they believe payment is justified they should not find it impossible to justify the only possible means of paying the bonus safely—new heavy unpleasant and unpopular taxes.

Plans for Attack on Constitution Halted

Administration Believes Objectives Can Be Reached Without Change in Basic Law.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON Jan 27—The tide of criticism of the supreme court engendered by new deal disappointment over the NRA and AAA decisions is not going to take the form of pressure for a constitutional amendment—at least not at present.

This inference is drawn from the attitude adopted by President Roosevelt in his conferences with the press. Instead of deploring the absence of alternatives to AAA as happened when the NRA was demolished by court opinion the administration now believes it can work out a satisfactory farm policy within the Constitution.

Mr Roosevelt has disclosed that he knows of at least 15 different ways to reach his objectives—for instance in the matter of soil conservation—and all of them within the Constitution, too.

This is a matter for general rejoicing because it has seemed as if the new deal would not be content with the Constitution as it is written today but would seek to amend the document to give the federal government greater powers. The determination to seek a solution of the farm problem within the Constitution will be received with satisfaction by critics who have repeatedly said that all ingenuity in the matter of writing agricultural legislation was by no means exhausted when the agricultural adjustment act was hastily drawn in the feverishly impetuous summer days of 1933.

The surprise is that when the NRA decision indicated clearly the trend of the court's opinion on usurpation of the rights of the states no move was made by congress to revise the AAA along constitutional lines as is being done at present. The farmers and the country generally might have been further ahead now on the recovery road had constitutional restrictions been respected.

* * *

There has been incidentally no diminution of the talk about legislation to restrict the power of the lower courts to pass on certain questions of constitutionality. The Attorney General Cummings has indicated that some restraints might be placed on the power of the courts to interfere with the collection of taxes.

This proposal may yet stir up far more debate and provoke more controversy of a fundamental character than would an amendment to give congress power to regulate agriculture. For the suggestion that courts be prevented from restraining the collection of taxes whether constitutionally or unconstitutionally imposed is a most critical one.

Heretofore the courts have stepped in to restrain collection of a tax which might cause irreparable damage if collected and later declared unconstitutional. It is doubtful whether a statute taking away all remedy at law for the citizen against the illegal collection of taxes would be sustained by the supreme court which has powers of judgment in equity matters that are derived from the wording of the Constitution itself.

* * *

The proposal to take away from the lower federal courts any rights to pass on the validity of acts of congress is a different sort of attack on the supreme court but not so discernible to the naked eye. The obvious purpose of the new dealers is to load on the supreme court so much work through granting original jurisdiction to the highest court that it might be necessary to increase the court by three or even nine more justices to take care of the work now done by about 80 different federal courts.

It is being said in many quarters that the new deal would welcome such a contingency because it would give Mr Roosevelt an opportunity to appoint justices who agreed with his philosophy of politics and government. Perhaps the flank attack on the high court by depriving lower courts of jurisdiction is the real reason for the abandonment of the idea of modifying the Constitution. To revise the decisions of the court by "packing" its membership is of course theoretically an easier thing to accomplish than to amend the Constitution. Usurpation is a quicker method than revision by amendment. But unfortunately "packing" of the court has been tried before and it is questionable whether public opinion will ever sanction such a subterfuge.

STURDY PIONEERS

Pressing forward to new territory was in the blood of the early pioneer at the time Morrow county was being settled.

These early pioneers found the woods swarming with game of all kinds to which were added large numbers of hogs that had wandered off from the frontier settlements and set up for themselves.

These latter animals afforded considerable sport to those who longed for adventure and some narrow escapes from injury at their tusks are related. Wolves were numerous and troublesome to the stock of the settlers frequently destroying calves and young cattle.

Behind the News

Men and Affairs Under The Washington Spotlight

By PAUL MALLON

NEW YORK Jan 27—The big fellows here are not as enthusiastic as they were when they made their New Year prophecies.

At a board meeting representative of the bulk of business last week it was agreed that while the immediate future is bright it is by no means all sunshine and roses.

The prospects and effects of a hot political campaign are now seen more clearly than a few weeks earlier. Many businesses and business men will be under fire and failing. More federal taxation requirements also have arisen lately.

This means only one thing. Industry has had to be wary in spending its safety reserves for expansion since the depression. It has not yet relaxed its caution.

Calm

The men here who make the market for government bonds (in a way) are not at all perturbed about the 1936 prospects but are increasingly apprehensive about the end of it all in the future.

They know the treasury will have to do a lot more new financing this year than last. It raised about $1,000,000,000 of new money last year. The bonus alone will require more than that this year.

Yet the treasury is still in a position to just about write its own ticket (with reservations) on financing. That coincides with the Washington viewpoint.

Snub

Park Avenue political debutantes will never get over the way T. R. Jr handled the predicament of addressing memorial dedication exercises to his father from the same platform as his far far distant cousin the President.

Young Teddy was surrounded by political strangers including not only President Roosevelt but Democratic Gov Lehman and unattached Mayor LaGuardia. As he started into his own highly non-political address he bowed only to the chairman who sat at his left and then looked straight out at the audience saying:

"Mr Chairman and distinguished guests."

The President was on his right as he spoke, Lehman and La Guardia behind him.

Good

Bonus developments were an old story to those at the business machine. Stock marketeers months ago had figured out which industries would get the money and how much.

Generally business seems to look on the good side of the bonus. Even some conservative authorities seem to think it is a good thing to pay it and get it out of the way.

Shoes

A business man from New York asked Mr Roosevelt some time ago what he thought about a manufacturers sales tax.

The President replied by asking how much the business man paid for his shoes. He then observed that the business man's chauffeur probably paid the same amount, adding:

"And under a manufacturers' sales tax you would both pay the same tax."

While that occurred some months ago there are reasons to believe the President has not yet altered his uncompromising opposition despite current rumors to the contrary.

Bread and Butter

The latest academic split between labor leaders Green and Lewis still has the same personal and political background only more so.

The personal angle of it is that, if Mr Lewis ever succeeds with his industrial union program, Mr. Green and his A F of L associates will be out of jobs. The A F of L would have to be completely decentralized and reorganized.

The political phase is that Lewis stands well with the new dealers. (He stood well enough to get the guffey coal bill.) Many of Mr Green's A F of L associates have Republican leanings.

Those on the top rim of the inner labor circle are confident that the Lewis industrial union system is sure to come in the long run of future years. Meanwhile the A F of L authorities will be able to give Mr Lewis many annoying hours.

Notes

Al's pals here amused themselves before his Liberty League speech trying to figure up how many delegates he might possibly get to the next Democratic convention if he tried. They started off with Rhode Island and counted up three more states.

Silver men point out that the reason the silver senators are less agitated than might be expected over the decreasing 45 cent world silver price is because all domestic producers are getting 77 cents although that figure is rarely quoted publicly.

The Republican national committee has been dickering to sign up several outstanding newsmen for its important publicity job. A New Yorker now is in line for it.

Four men and a woman all of Columbus were under arrest at the city prison in connection with the holdup and robbery of two C D & M messengers at city hall on Jan 11. Police reported that the woman had made damaging admissions.

The Marion Automobile Merchants association set Feb 22-27 as the dates of the fourth annual Marion Auto show.

Taking of testimony in the trial of Josiah Kirby, head of the defunct Cleveland Discount Co, on a charge of using the mails to defraud reached its close in federal court at Cleveland. Many Marion county residents lost heavily in failure of the company.

Robert Penniston employe of the engineering department of the Marion Steam Shovel Co was elected president when a permanent organization of the Marion Steam Shovel Apprentice club was effected. Clifford Ward was elected vice president and John Huber secretary and treasurer.

Mrs J A Schroeter of East Center street was a guest of her son in law and daughter Mr and Mrs Bernard Brady and her son and family Mr and Mrs E J Schroeter of Cleveland.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Thursday Jan 27, 1916

After having refused to see a delegation of the Congressional Union seeking his aid in having a constitutional amendment granting woman suffrage adopted President Wilson finally capitulated and consented to a meeting. The union was made up of women throughout the country advocating the suffrage proposal. Announcement that the President would meet them was received with cheers from the women, who filled the corridors of the Waldorf hotel in New York where the President had come to give an address.

The trades union conference in England voted against compulsory military service in Great Britain by a majority of 1,557,000.

The Berlin war office announced capture by German troops of French positions on the 600-yard frontage on the Vimy Neuville high road in the Artois district.

A few weeks ago Hunt came upon the ex-king in sartorial ensemble in coffee brown save for a flood-red pip of breast pocket kerchief in the lobby of the Grand Hotel in Rome where he has a suite. They repaired to his apartment for a natter. But not without Alfonso exacting a promise nothing would be written about him. In the same night place—I've been a dirty stay-out again—our host was one of the wearied men about town. Some one attracted by a honey-haired ermined lady across the room inquired who she was. Said the man: "Oh she, oh she that is she the idle memory of a golden dream."

TODAY—Fighting Indians Vow to Self-Extermination of Tribe.

THE SERI INDIANS, last fighting tribe in North America, will push birth control to the last extremity. Juan Tomas, aged chief of the tribe, says his people will have no more babies, thus escaping forever disease and hardships that make their life miserable.

That has happened before. A small nation of South America taken over, managed and controlled for its own good, by a religious organization, decided that life was not worth while under civilized Christian conditions. Babies ceased to appear not by agreement, but from sheer weariness of life.

The Seri Indians were serious fighters and built on the shore of the Gulf of California a mysterious temple of skulls taken from white men. Each year after the fishing season they visited the pyramid and renewed their oath to kill every white man. They failed in that plan. The temple of skulls still stands and the Seri Indians go there to mourn our former glory.

Piling up skulls is not new. A conqueror from far Asia did it in Europe long ago. One built a pyramid of half a million enemy skulls or more, lighted it from the inside and greatly enjoyed looking at it.

Pilots Killed Needlessly

The unnecessary air disaster in Hawaii, two United States bombing planes crashed in collision while flying in formation and six men killed, causes aviator to say that the object of night formation flying. They may well object, nothing more senseless, stupid could be imagined than sending planes to fly at high speed, almost touching wings inviting disaster and death. Even in these busy times there ought to be somebody sufficiently intelligent to stop that nonsense at night and in daytime also.

No Queen for England

England believes that her new King Edward VIII intends never to marry. As Prince of Wales he received and still receives as King the income from the Duchy of Cornwall, taken over by the Crown. It is now for the benefit of the first sons of English kings. Edward VIII will hand on the Cornwall income to his brother the Duke of York heir apparent, to help with his increased expenses. If the king expected to marry and have a son he would retain the Cornwall revenue for his own future Prince of Wales. Even kings sometimes change their minds, or ladies change their minds for them.

The Oldest Worker

Mr John Horan of Milwaukee called by his fellow workers "Soda Ash Johnny" first used soda ash to clean locomotive boiler, a discovery that should have made him rich. It did not.

Soda Ash Johnny, a proud man, refused to let his son accept a pension, told the authorities "I am still able to work and no boy of mine is going on the county."

It will surprise you to hear that the son aged 60 had applied for an old age pension.

Soda Ash Johnny, aged ninety-eight, oldest railroad worker in the country, has worked for the same railroad company eighty-two years. Perhaps he has enjoyed his life more than if he had spent the last thirty years spending every month as fast as he got it $30.00 given to him by the government. Nevertheless everyone hopes that the old in need will be provided for as generously as may be possible and without waiting until they are ninety-eight.

American Style

The English are all excited about their "first bump-off" and ride. Scotland Yard in great excitement seeks a young girl in a leopard skin coat seen at a roadside cafe in Hertfordshire talking with a man whose body thrown from an automobile was soon after and picked up on the roadside.

The victim, dealer in jewelry aged 55 had many bullets in his body. English newspapers call it a crime in the American style.

This country has long ceased to be excited about such trifles.

Interesting Lives

Air pilots lead interesting lives. One Russian flying over the Caspian Sea found an ice floe that had broken away with 1,825 marooned fishermen and 1,400 horses. The marooned men were cheerful, the fishing was marvelously good out there they said. Medicines were dropped to them and boats will bring them back to shore. Smaller groups of [illegible] away on other ice floes, missing.

No limit can be set to the airplanes future usefulness: replanting forests, fighting forest fires, locating mines and oil wells, fighting plant diseases.

DENMAN'S PRAIRIE

Ohio is not a plain or prairie state yet here and there in all sections of the state are small tracts that were originally treeless or nearly so. The early settlers were quick to take notice of them and usually passed them as undesirable agriculturally. However this condition was due to a surplus of water or not quite enough water for the requirements of tree growth.

In Bethlehem township in Coshocton county there was a treeless area in the early days known as Denman's Prairie and its soil was rich and productive. It lies in the southeast corner of the township south of the river and extends a short distance into both Keene and Jackson townships.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Meningitis

Recently I told you about encephalitis or sleeping sickness as it is more commonly known. Today I want to tell you about meningitis, a disease which is often confused with encephalitis. The two afflictions are alike mostly because they involve the central nervous system.

Meningitis as its name indicates is an inflammation of the meninges which are really the covering membranes of the brain and spinal cord. Medically the disease is spoken of as cerebral spinal meningitis. This is an accurate term because the inflammation is likely to involve the coverings both of the brain and spinal cord. The disorder is produced by a germ. This organism may be one of many varieties. For example it may be caused by the germ of tuberculosis, typhoid fever or pneumonia. But ordinarily meningitis as it is commonly spoken of is caused by a germ called the meningococcus.

This particular organism is found in the secretion of the nose and throat of certain individuals. It is [illegible] be [illegible] w sneezing and coughing, which [illegible] the germs to be spread from one individual to another.

The disease is more prevalent than is commonly suspected. Hardly a year passes that there is not a report of a more or less severe epidemic of cerebral meningitis in some section of the country. The disease usually appears in epidemic form. It may exist in several sections at the same time.

As a rule the outbreak of the disease can be traced to carriers. Carriers are persons who unknowingly harbor the dangerous germ. Unfortunately it is not easy to locate the carrier nor to recognize what germ is responsible for the trouble. The true nature of the latter can only be determined by careful examination of the nose and throat and having special cultures made of the secretions from these parts.

Any person who harbors the meningococcus germ must be kept by himself and receive prompt medical attention. If these precautions are not taken the germs will quickly spread to other persons.

In its early stages the disease may be confused with an acute infection of the nose and throat or even be mistaken for a common cold. The sufferer has headache, high fever, rapid pulse, chills and a feeling of soreness all over the body. In the more severe forms of meningitis vomiting and delirium appear. The victim is temporarily out of his head.

To confirm the diagnosis the doctor will make examination of the [illegible] fluid which is obtained by puncturing the spinal canal. It sounds rather terrible but really is a simple procedure. It is only by means of this test that other similar infections such as infantile paralysis and encephalitis can be ruled out and the proper treatment applied.

New 1936 Chevrolet Trucks Introduced By Haberman Company

Feature Coupe Type Cabs Having Solid Steel Tops

Hydraulic Brake Operation Includes Improved Mechanism.

New Chevrolet trucks for 1936 comprising a wide range of standard body types mounted on half ton and 1½ ton chassis which carry numerous advances in engineering and improvements in operation are announced by Chevrolet Motor Co for introduction in January.

Design changes including a restyling of the sheet metal and the adoption of a coupe type cab with solid steel top have enhanced the appearance of the 1936 models.

In the chassis the most noteworthy development is the adoption of hydraulic brake operation in conjunction with improved brake mechanisms at the wheels.

Engine improvements include increased power, better fuel and oil economy, and greater durability. The major change in the engine is the use of full length water jacket in combination with higher compression ratio (6 to 1).

The 1½ ton chassis now has a full floating rear axle with a stronger housing that includes a malleable iron differential case and seamless steel axle tubes. Rear axle loads are carried on the housing instead of on the axle shafts which now have only to drive the wheels.

Passenger car comfort for the truck driver is offered in the new coupe type cab which presents a streamline appearance and reduced over all height in an all steel structure having a one-piece solid steel top. The doors are entirely of steel while the cab interior including instrument panel and door panels is trimmed with steel having a crackled finish in brown matching the upholstery. The seat back is adjustable.

In both chassis models, the radiator hood fenders and splash guard have been restyled. The sloping V radiator grille formerly black is chromium plated. Front fenders extending lower in front have deep skirts at the sides concealing the chassis parts.

The changing to hydraulic brakes on both chassis models Chevrolet has adopted this principle of brake actuation to its own design of brake mechanism within the brake drugs. A hydraulic cylinder with double opposed pistons is used to actuate each pair of articulated brake shoes. The master cylinder is mounted on the frame in the 1½ ton model and on the clutch housing of the half ton.

The hand brake lever actuates both service brake shoes in each rear wheel. The connection is by flexible cable attached to a lever and toggle mechanism within the rear brake drums.

Engines of the two chassis models are identical in design and in horsepower and torque. Maximum horsepower is 72 at 3200 r p m. Maximum torque is obtained over an unusually wide range of engine speeds, 155 foot pounds being maintained all the way between 900 and 1500 r p m.

The increase in compression ratio to 6 to 1 is credited with effecting a 6 per cent improvement in fuel economy. Combustion chambers have been reshaped to attain smoothness with the higher compression.

Major improvements have been made in the Chevrolet cooling system to maintain lower engine temperatures and to attain important benefits in the control of engine oil temperature and of cylinder block and valve push rod expansion. In the new engines the water jacketing extends far below the lowermost point reached by the head of the piston nearly to the lower edge of the piston skirt at the bottom of the stroke.

Further improvement in engine cooling has been made by changes in the radiator cores of both models.

Generators are equipped with ventilators which stabilize the temperature at about 80 degrees higher than that of the atmosphere.

Clutch improvements include the use of a new shot blast process of treating the cushion springs of the disc resulting in much greater durability and a more accurate alignment of the clutch release levers.

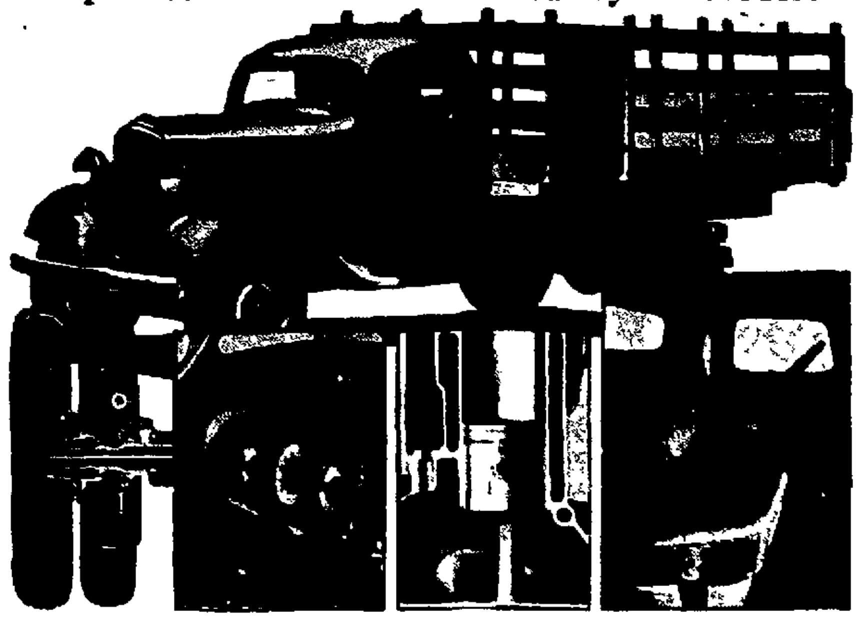
The steering gear of both models has been improved in action and durability by the adoption of a larger pitman shaft with longer bushings and a larger pitman arm.

The fuel tank in the 1½ ton models with cabs is now mounted under the seat with no connection to the chassis frame. A flexible metallic tube connects with the fuel line leading to the fuel pump. The filler cap extends from the seat riser so that it is not necessary to raise the seat cushion or for the driver to leave the cab when the tank is to be filled.

An important development in bearing design marks the practice adopted by Chevrolet in the 1½ ton model full floating rear axle. The load at each wheel is carried on two Hyatt roller bearings of entirely new type. Instead of plain rollers the new bearing uses barrel type rollers the bearing surfaces being ground radially. The bearing surfaces of the inner and outer races also are ground radially but on a greater radius. Under a light load therefore the contact between the surfaces of the roller and the races is slight. As the load increases the elasticity of the material permits a greater area at the rollers and races to be brought into contact. In other words the capacity of the bearings increases as the load increases. The new bearing is self aligning and takes both radial and thrust loads. Two of the new bearings are used in each rear wheel.

Chevrolet trucks are sold by the Haberman Chevrolet Co located at 203 South Main street.

Improved Trucks Introduced by Chevrolet



Hydraulic brakes on all models, all-steel coupe type cab giving passenger car comfort to the driver more powerful engine with full-length water jackets, and full floating rear axle on the 1½ ton models, are among the many improved features found in the 1936 truck models introduced by Chevrolet. The illustrations show the 1½ ton truck, with stake body, a section through a rear wheel showing the new full floating axle and hydraulic brakes, a part of the instrument panel in the all-steel cab, full length water jacketing and the interior of the coupe type cab.

Keep AHEAD of the JONESES

There's just one way to be "better off" than the other people on your street. . . . In order to keep ahead, you must think and act first. And that can be done by any one who decides to do it, whatever the family income. . . For instance, some people are smart enough to buy things when prices are down. Right now, of course, you can find sheets and towels and other supplies for the house at lowest-this-year prices. And that isn't all. . . . Some time this winter you will find underwear for the children, gloves for yourself, pajamas for the head of the house—and many, many more things offered at 'way-down prices.

All sorts of special buys will keep bobbing up, if you watch the advertisements in this newspaper—and keep thinking ahead, and buying ahead.

Where will you get all the money, you ask?... Well, it doesn't take more money to be better off, this way. Actually it takes less. The pennies you save by timely buying add up to dollars in the end.

STOKER SIMPLIFIES PROBLEM OF HEATING

Bin Requires Filling Only Once a Day, Temperature Control Is Automatic.

If you have had trouble heating your house these extremely cold days—made frequent trips down to the furnace in an attempt to keep the fire hot—then more than ever you will appreciate the advantages offered by the Will Burt stoker in solving your heating problems.

All that is necessary is to fill the hopper once a day and then regulate the temperature by moving a small hand upstairs. Sounds simple doesn't it. It's even more simple than it sounds. You just can't beat the all around efficiency offered by the Will Burt stoker with automatic air control in the heating of your house.

Call Baldauf & Schlientz Inc tomorrow. They are local dealers for Will Burt stokers and they will be glad to explain all the features of this wonderful stoker. They are located at 159 North Greenwood street and their telephone number is 4181.

New Card Filing System Is Efficient, Inexpensive

A new visible filing system has just been placed on the market under the name of Fold-Index. This system while incorporating a new idea of card suspension, gives all the advantages of the old expensive visible card index systems at a price that anyone can afford to pay.

The line starts with a pocket file of 15 cards 3"x3" at 25c, this can also be had in a pocket size file holding 36 cards at 60c. The next size is the standard 3"x5" card which can be obtained in leather or imitation leather holding 72 or 216 cards each priced at $1.50 up. This system can also be had in 4"x6" and 5"x8" card size.

If one desires it is possible to double the capacity of these holders by using what is known as half tabbed cards. In other words two cards to a holder, but with two separate indexes. For example, a 72 card holder then holds 144 cards on which you can show visibly 144 indexes.

These systems are very rapidly replacing the old horizontal card system for perpetual inventories, past due accounts, accounts receivable, property listings, insurance premiums due, second hand automobile listings, etc. In fact, it offers an unlimited field for the small business to become as up-to-date as "big" business. Visit the Monarch Printing & Supply Co. located at 170 South Main street and see this complete line, or phone and one of the company's representative will call on you. The phone number is 2108.

Milk Fortifies Body Against Winter Illness

To the rich Chinese mandarins who discharged their family physicians as soon as any sickness came into their families we must give credit for the first health insurance plan. But science has changed the method since then—has made health insurance available to all.

As one example take the protective measures that are employed against the common winter colds and similar illnesses. Science has found many foods are rich in the elements that are needed for building resistance within the body against winter's dangerous devitalizing sickness.

Milk because it contains an abundance of such elements is considered one of the most important foods in this respect. Many other dairy products too play an almost equally important part in helping you build for yourself and your family a most economical and positive health insurance.

Drink Moore & Ross milk because it is richer in the resistance building vitamins and butter fats that make one of your most important protectors of health.

NEW MARCHING PLAN USED BY GERMANS

Three Man Column Adopted in Place of Former Four Abreast System.

By United Press

BERLIN — A goose-stepper of World war vintage would be a sorry recruit if forced to march with a column of Adolf Hitler's new Reichswehr

The institution of the three-man column replacing the pre-war four-men alignment has revised marching formations and parade tactics

Rugged defenders of the Fatherland in former conflicts would be helplessly lost in a maze of new commands and formations These have been imported from foreign armies and now are generally regarded as the most efficient for infantry drill

The old four-men abreast grouping in blocks of eight has been discarded because it made deploying in battle too difficult With the sergeants of four blocks of platoons heading up the column the breaking of ranks in which the first block advanced ahead the second to the right and the third to the left Then the sergeants had to race to their respective groups

The new grouping not only takes up less space on the road but also increases the size unit from eight men to twelve

As for [illegible] the new maneuvers [illegible] completely different [illegible] drill [illegible] is larger and differently constructed.

Madge Discovers That Boys Are "Playing Possum."

AS WILLIAMS put his question concerning the small boys sleeping late I felt as if my pulses were skipping a beat. I knew how preposterous it was to admit even the slightest qualm of fear to my mind but I could not keep from countering with a quick, perturbed query

"Why, are they still asleep?"

"I guess so" There was an oddly irritable note in Williams' voice which oddly took all fear away from me. Either that or they're playing possum for some reason or other

"But I haven't seen them with their eyes open and they didn't answer when I spoke to them But of course" he added conscientiously "I didn't speak very loud If they really were asleep I figured you'd want them to sleep as long as they could"

"You were right" I told him quickly "But now breakfast is nearly ready and they must get up If you'll excuse me I'll go in and awaken them I fancy it won't be hard to do"

"No I guess they'll wake up without much trouble" Williams said dryly and it was easy to see that he believed the small boys for some reason of their own were feigning slumber

I knocked lightly upon the door of the bedroom The room contained two narrow beds—Williams had slept in the living room upon a cot—and the two boys were curled upon into balls their usual sleeping posture—one in each

Playing Possum

That they were playing possum was evident to me almost at once Their postures were natural their breathing was regular their faces were blank devoid of expression but they could not keep their eyelids from fluttering ever so slightly and I gave an irrepressible amused laugh

"Come boys!" I said cheerily but firmly "You've fooled everybody long enough Breakfast is almost ready and you must get up"

They opened their eyes slowly and then both youngsters grinned reluctantly up at me

"Gee! Mums" Junior said admiringly "There's no use trying to put anything over on you But we fooled the rest of 'em didn't we Rod?"

"You bet your boots" Roderick agreed and something in the smugness of both voices made me say quickly

"I don't think you fooled Mr Williams very much. He asked me if you usually slept as late as this and then added that you were either asleep or playing possum So don't count on having fooled him completely"

"Aw shucks" Roderick said despondently and Junior wagged his head in dejected agreement

"It was a good game though" I said consolingly but sensing something as yet unexplained beneath their attempted hoax "But it's over now so see how quickly you can dress You mustn't keep our host waiting you know"

Williams Efficient

Just [illegible] Junior [illegible] with the fever [illegible] of healthy childhood in the [illegible] ready "I'll be ready to [illegible] though—I mean for breakfast" he finished lamely, with a wary eye on me

"[illegible] that you are" I said ignoring his language and left the room upon the word pausing to tell Williams that breakfast would be ready in a few minutes

"Is there anything I can do to help?" he asked

"Not just now" I said "except to see that the boys get over as soon as possible I think a little later you probably will have a job at kitchen police We want to start on this mountain trip as early as possible"

"Of course" he assented heartily "and don't bother about anything I can do all there is to be done with one hand tied behind me"

It was no idle boast Williams is an unusually efficient man, and I smiled assent to his assertion.

"I am sure you can," I said, "and Mrs. Pickett and I will be very glad to leave things for you."

I hurried back to the other cabin finding Dicky fully dressed and in high good humor

"Well" he said shrewdly, "what were those little devils doing? Playing possum I suppose."

Mrs. Thurn Offers Guide for Planning Breakfasts

[illegible] in Marion: [illegible] can be especially en[illegible] culinary point of [illegible] realize that a cool, [illegible] kitchen, makes an in[illegible] work shop, and that family [illegible] spurred on by cold [illegible] are at their most appre[illegible]. I always believe it [illegible] to take advantage [illegible] conditions and give the [illegible] better meals than when hot [illegible] makes me less inclined to [illegible] cooking. And I start with [illegible] breakfasts. Here's a simple breakfast my family always likes: [illegible] Squeezed Orange Juice

Broiled Finger Sausages,
Fried Apples
Toasted Rolls, Jelly, Butter
Coffee Cocoa

* * *

Sliced Bananas in Orange Juice
Scrambled Egg with Sausage Cake;
Buttered Holland Rusk
Marmalade
Coffee Milk

* * *

Stewed Cherries
Waffles, Honey
Creamed, Chipped Beef
Coffee Cocoa

If you serve the creamed, chipped beef on the waffles, omit the honey, and be sure to have plenty of the meat as well as a large bowl of waffle batter ready.

Chocolate Waffles

Thirty large graham crackers; one half teaspoon salt; four teaspoons baking powder; three tablespoons cocoa; one third cup sugar; three eggs; one cup milk; one teaspoon vanilla; one half cup melted shortening.

Crumble the graham crackers fine, add salt, baking powder, cocoa and sugar. Mix the beaten yolks with the milk, flavoring and shortening. Add dry ingredients and fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Bake in hot waffle iron. Serve with powdered sugar and custard sauce as a breakfast waffle. For a dessert for buffet supper, have at least two waffle irons attached so that a number may be baked at one time, then serve the waffles with vanilla ice cream and chocolate sauce. Makes twelve single servings of one quarter large round or square waffle each.

Swedish Coffee Ring

As a breakfast sweet bread this Swedish coffee ring is especially popular.

Two cakes compressed yeast; one cup milk scalded and cooled to lukewarm; one half cup sugar; one half teaspoon salt; two eggs or four egg yolks; four cups flour; one half cup shortening, melted; softened butter; sugar; chopped nut meats; confectioner's frosting.

Crumble the yeast into a bowl, add milk and stir to dissolve the yeast. Stir in the sugar, salt, beaten eggs and then the flour. Add melted shortening and mix thoroughly. Turn out on a floured board and knead two or three minutes, until the dough is smooth. Put in a bowl, cover and let rise over hot, not boiling water until double in bulk. Divide the dough in half and roll each piece into an oblong. Spread with softened butter and sprinkle with granulated sugar and nuts.

Roll tightly and form into separate rings. Place on a greased baking sheet, let rise again, over hot water, until double in bulk. Then bake in a moderately hot oven, 350 degrees F., 20 to 25 minutes. Remove from oven and spread with confectioner's icing made by mixing enough cream with one cup confectioner's sugar to give a spreading consistency. Sprinkle with chopped or shaved nuts.

Nut and Date Muffins

Another breakfast bread popular with many families is this muffin:

One fourth cup shortening; one fourth cup sugar; one egg; two cups flour; two teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; one cup milk; one half cup shaved or chopped nut meats; one half cup chopped dates.

Blend shortening and sugar and stir in the beaten egg. Mix and sift together the flour, salt and baking powder and add alternately with the milk. Add nuts and dates which have been dredged with flour. Pour into well greased muffin pans and bake twenty-five minutes in a moderate, 375 degrees F., oven.

Cinnamon Nut Buns

Two cups flour; two teaspoons baking powder; one half teaspoon salt; five tablespoons shortening; two thirds cup milk; softened butter; brown sugar; cinnamon; one half cup sliced nuts.

Mix and sift flour, baking powder and salt. Rub or cut in the shortening with a knife. Stir in milk and work lightly into a dough. Roll out on a floured board into a sheet, six by eight inches. Spread with softened butter, sprinkle with brown sugar, cinnamon and nuts. Roll up like a jelly roll, and slice crosswise. Place in a well greased pan. Bake in a hot oven 400 degrees F., for 12 minutes, or until browned.

START DAY WITH GOOD BREAKFAST

Fresh fruit juice, crisp sausages and fried apples combine to start the day right. Add a cinnamon roll, hot from the oven and you have a perfect breakfast. See recipes for the rolls and other breakfast dishes elsewhere on this page.

TRY FOR VARIETY IN FISH DINNERS

Here Are a Menu and a Recipe That Will Help in Planning.

If your market provides you with fresh fish two or three days each week, take advantage of this opportunity to inject variety in the menus. A baked, stuffed fish is a low-cost main dish, and delicious if prepared with care. Here is one good recipe:

One three-pound fish; two cups soft bread crumbs; three-fourths cup chopped nut meats; one teaspoon salt; pepper; four tablespoons melted butter; two tablespoons lemon juice; six slices onion, or six onion rings; salt and pepper.

Slit and clean the fish, removing the protruding large bones; mix crumbs, nuts and seasoning and add two tablespoons melted butter and the lemon juice. Mix well and stuff the fish with the mixture. Sew the split edges together and place the fish on an oven proof platter. Cut three or four ripe tomatoes in halves and place around the fish. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and arrange an onion slice or ring on each half. Pour the remaining butter over the fish and tomatoes. Bake in a hot oven, 450 degrees F., about 15 minutes and until fish is tender. Remove from oven, garnish with small bunches of parsley and slices of lemon. Serve on same platter.

Nut and Cheese Fritters For Luncheon

These fritters are fried on a griddle, but may be deep fat fried if you prefer.

One fourth cup flour; one teaspoon baking powder; one teaspoon salt; two cups cornmeal mush; one cup grated cheese; one egg; one half cup finely chopped nuts.

Add the flour, sifted with the baking powder and salt to the mush. Add cheese, egg and nuts and mix well. Drop by spoonfuls on a hot greased griddle and fry on both sides. Or drop into hot fat and fry until brown.

Serve as main dish of vegetable platter, using green vegetables and carrots to complete the assortment. A glass of cherry and orange juice makes an appetizing first course; with a gelatine salad of melon balls following the main course; and dessert of date sticks or brownies, with coffee or tea. Hot toasted rolls, or hot biscuits with some of the new citron conserve or any other favorite marmalade is a delicious addition to this guest luncheon combination.

An attachment for pianos invented by a University of Wisconsin professor causes various colored lights that interpret the moods of the audible music to be displayed on a hanging curtain of glass rods.

THE BOOMERANG CLUE

BY AGATHA CHRISTIE

(Copyright, 1936, Agatha Christie)

SYNOPSIS: Frankie Derwent has maintained all along that Pritchard the man Bobby Jones found dying at the foot of a cliff near Marchbolt, was pushed over. And until Bobby was nearly killed by being slipped eight grains of morphia in a bottle of beer, he scouted her theory. But Frankie and the morphia have convinced Bobby at last, and now the two are in Bobby's hospital room trying to discover what Bobby could know that would justify an attempt on his life.

* * *

CHAPTER TEN

Amateur Sleuths

"YOU'VE not annoyed a malevolent chemist lately, have you?" asked Frankie.

"Why a chemist?" Bobby inquired.

"Free access to morphia, of course."

"Well, I haven't annoyed anybody at all that I know of, excepting my clergyman father."

"And you haven't got any enemies that you know of?"

Bobby shook his head.

"Well, there you are," said Frankie triumphantly. "It must be the man who was pushed over the cliff. What do the police think?"

"They think it must have been a lunatic."

"Nonsense. Lunatics don't wander about with unlimited supplies of morphia looking for odd bottles of beer to put it into. No, somebody pushed Pritchard over the cliff. A minute or two later you come along, and he thinks you saw him do it and so determines to put you out of the way."

"I don't think that will hold water, Frankie."

"Why not?"

"Well, to begin with, I didn't see anything."

"Yes, but he didn't know that."

"And if I had seen anything I should have said so at the inquest."

"I suppose that's so," said Frankie unwillingly. She thought for a minute or two.

"Perhaps he thought you'd seen something that you didn't think was anything but which really was something. That sounds pure gibberish, but you get the idea?"

Bobby nodded. "Yes, I see what you mean, but it doesn't seem very probable somehow."

"I'm sure that cliff business had something to do with this. You were on the spot—the first person to be there—"

"Thomas was there too," Bobby reminded her. "And nobody's tried to poison him."

"Perhaps they're going to," said Frankie cheerfully. "Or perhaps they've tried and failed."

"It all seems very far-fetched."

"I think it's logical. If you get two out-of-the-way things happening in a stagnant pond like Marchbolt—Wait—there's a third thing."

"What?"

"That job you were offered. That, of course, is quite a small thing, but it was odd, you must admit. I've never heard of a foreign firm that specialized in seeking out undistinguished ex-naval officers."

"You hadn't got into the B. M. J. then. But you see my point. You've seen something you weren't meant to see—or so they (whoever they are) think. Very well. They first try to get rid of you by offering you a job abroad. Then, when that fails, they try to put you out of the way altogether."

"Isn't that rather drastic? And anyway a great risk to take?"

"Oh, but murderers are always frightfully rash. The more murders they do, the more murders they want to do."

"Like 'The Third Bloodstain'," said Bobby, remembering one of his favorite works of fiction.

"Yes, and in real life too—Smith and his wives, and Armstrong and other people."

"Well, but Frankie, what on earth is it I'm supposed to have seen?"

"That, of course, is the difficulty," admitted Frankie. "I agree that it can't have been the actual pushing, because you would have told about that. It must be something about the man himself. Perhaps he had a birthmark or double-jointed fingers or some strange physical peculiarity."

"Your mind is running on Dr. Thorndyke, I see. It couldn't be anything like that because whatever I saw the police would see as well."

"So they would. That was an idiotic suggestion. It's very difficult, isn't it?"

"It's a pleasing theory," said Bobby. "And it makes me feel important. But all the same, I don't believe it's much more than a theory."

"I'm sure I'm right." Frankie rose. "I must be off now. Shall I come and see you again tomorrow?"

"Oh do. The arch chatter of the nurses gets very monotonous. By the way, you're back from London very soon?"

"My dear, as soon as I heard about you, I tore back. It's most exciting to have a romantically poisoned friend."

"I don't know whether morphia is so very romantic," said Bobby reminiscently.

"Well, I'll come tomorrow. Do I kiss you or don't I?"

"It's not catching," said Bobby encouragingly.

"Then I'll do my duty to the sick thoroughly." She kissed him lightly. "See you tomorrow."

The nurse came in with Bobby's tea as she went out.

"I've seen her pictures in the paper often. She's not so very like them, though. And of course I've seen her driving about in her car. Not a bit haughty, is she?"

"Oh, no," said Bobby. "I should never call Frankie haughty."

"I said to the head nurse, I said, she's as natural as anything. Not a bit stuck-up. She's just like you or me," I said."

Dissenting violently though silently from this view, Bobby returned no reply.

His eye was caught by the vases of lilies. Frightfully sweet of Frankie to bring him all these flowers, and of course they were lovely, but he wished it had occurred to her to bring him a few detective stories instead. He cast his eye over the table beside him. There was a novel of Ouida's and a copy of "John Halifax, Gentleman," and last week's "Marchbolt Weekly Times." He picked up "John Halifax, Gentleman."

After five minutes he put it down. To a mind nourished on "The Third Bloodstain," "The Case of the Murdered Archduke," and "The Strange Adventure of the Florentine Dagger," Mrs. Mulock Craik's "John Halifax" somehow lacked pep. With a sigh he picked up last week's "Weekly Times."

A moment or two later he was pressing the bell beneath his pillow with a vigor which brought a nurse into the room, on a run.

Frankie and Bobby puzzle over a very suspicious circumstance, tomorrow.

"And you haven't any enemies you know of?"

WOOLWORTH BUILDING UNDER POLICE SIEGE

Gunman Burglar Sought in Hundreds of Rooms by 200 Policemen.

By the Associated Press

NEW YORK, Jan. 27 —The towering Woolworth building was a besieged castle in one of the strangest man hunts of Manhattan

Sought somewhere in the underground sub-floors or through the hundreds of offices making a city of many turnings for 60 stories was the spectre-like figure of a burglar and gunman

Shortly after noon the fugitive burglar bludgeoned and then shot a watchman Tony Petrone ... who surprised him on the seventh floor He was in serious condition with a bullet over the heart

Some 200 policemen laid immediate siege to every exit while patrols with drawn revolvers worked floor by floor from the observation platform at the windy summit of the building to the dark sub-basements

Long after nightfall the first search of the building was finally completed and a second floor-by floor hunt began Sixty policemen one on each floor and 25 detectives were posted for an all night vigil within the building

A search of offices indicated many had been rifled and that the burglar was making a leisurely week end job of it A lunch was found on one of the floor

Howard Chandler Christy famous artist drew the central figure on the posters which are on display in business places throughout the city to attract attention to the Roosevelt dance which will be given Thursday night at the Elks hall

Elise Ford Mr Christy's favorite model, posed for the original painting Mr Christy has donated the paintings each year of the ball and Miss Ford has been the model each time Though only 20, she has been posing for Mr Christy for more than five years. Her likeness has appeared on dozens of inspirational posters.

Mr Christy describes Miss Ford as "so typical of American youth that she was ideal for the poster I had in mind"

As a model Miss Ford is familiar to the American public through scores of Christy posters painted in the last few years. She was the center figure in such famous ones as those painted by Mr Christy for the Victory Ball, the Lambs Club St Patrick's Day dinner and the ball for the United States fleet

Marion's dance in celebration of the President's fifty-fourth birthday anniversary will start at 10 o'clock Thursday night and continue until 1 a m Friday

Golden Gloves Finals To Be Fought Tuesday Night

Harding Wins from Tiffin Junior Order Home Team

Ruby, Marion Center, Plays Last Game with Presidents; Scores 10 Points Toward 29-17 Victory.

BY CHARLES HOSTETLER
Marion Star Sports Writer

Marion's undefeated Harding High basketball team annexed its tenth straight victory this season by defeating the Tiffin Junior O U A M Home team 29 to 17 in a non league encounter at the Shovel gymnasium Saturday night

Dwight Ruby stellar center of Coach Dewey S Bohyer's undefeated Presidents ended his scholastic career in a blaze of glory by garnering individual scoring honors with 10 points to his credit The six foot two inch pivot man considered the nucleus of the Marion quintet becomes ineligible for further scholastic competition at the close of the first semester because of his age His loss to the Harding team cannot be estimated at present and fans eagerly await the next Harding game to determine how the team will click without his services

Lose Lead Momentarily

For only a moment in the opening quarter the Presidents trail their opponents Minard tallied the first score for Harding on a free toss but a successful long shot by Lexater gave the Tiffin team a 2 to 1 lead Minard Tierney and Conroy scored in rapid succession and Ruby added a foul putting the Presidents into an 8 to 2 lead Coble scored for Tiffin as the first quarter ended 8-4

Marion held the lead throughout the remaining three quarters and only once did the invading squad threaten to overcome it Late in the third period and early in the final stanza heavy scoring by the Tiffin players brought them within three points of the winning squad Displaying frequent scoring spurts the Bohyermen turned back the invaders and finished with a substantial margin of victory

Going into the second stanza with an 8 to 4 lead the Bohyermen added six points to their scoring column and held the opposing cagers scoreless A third quarter slump in Harding's offensive play might have resulted in disaster had it not been that Harding players registered 11 points to 4 for their opponents in the fourth period

Coble Tiffin Star

Coble forward of Coach John L Starrett's Junior Home team proved most bothersome to Marion guards He sneaked through Harding's defense on several occasions and managed to tally eight points on four successful attempts from action

Tiffin made only one foul in six tries while the winning team collected on five free throws out of 14

A small but enthusiastic crowd witnessed the conflict Harding's bid for the North Central Ohio league championship was not at stake and fans were evidently marking time until the next conference game Resuming its N C O schedule this week the Harding team will journey to Mt Vernon, for its first game with the newcomer to the league The following week will mark the beginning of the second round of loop competition when the Shelby High team invades the Shovel gymnasium for its second encounter with Harding this season

Substitutions Frequent

Coach Bohyer substituted often in the contest Saturday night probably with an eye peeled for the prospective first string lineup after Ruby leaves the squad He tried various combinations using both Tierney a regular forward and Levien reserve center at the pivot position Fans were of the opinion that Tierney would work into the regular position as pivot man and that Faught a regular guard would be moved to a forward position leaving Evans in the guard position It is expected that either Frazier or Conroy will permanently fill the other guard position.

Still another possibility mentioned was moving Tierney to the pivot post and placing Frazier in the vacant forward position leaving the remainder of the team intact Coach Bohyer made no definite announcement concerning the changes to be made but readily agreed that several combinations will be tried in an attempt to hit upon the most successful one

The box score of Saturday's game follows

THIRD-PERIOD RALLY WINS FOR RESERVES

Harding Junior Varsity Scores 33-25 Victory Over Tiffin Quintet

Junior varsity cagers of Harding High staged a third quarter scoring rally which netted 13 points and helped them to a 33 to 25 victory over the reserve team of the Tiffin Junior O U A M Home in a preliminary game at the Shovel gymnasium here Saturday night

The Harding junior team trailed 12 to 6 at the end of the first period and was behind by the same margin as both teams tallied nine points in the second stanza Adding 13 points to the scoring column in the third period and holding the Tiffin quintet to a lone point the Marion team took over a 28 to 22 lead as the game went into the final period

The starting lineup of the Marion team was unable to click against the strong opposition and Coach Dewey S Bohyer's frequent substitutions bolstered the winning squad Leffler substitute forward was accurate in his attempts from the field and foul line as he gained scoring honors with 10 points to his credit Huntsman and Sharrock guards followed in scoring with eight and five points respectively

The victory gave the Harding Jayvee team a record of seven wins in nine games this season Bexley and Ashland High reserve teams are the only squads that have beaten the junior Presidents The box score follows

VETERAN DRIVER OF AUTO RACES KILLED

By The Associated Press

LOS ANGELES Jan 27 — Al Gordon who joked at death is dead

The veteran automobile race pilot from Long Beach Calif blew a tire on the 119th lap of a 200 lap grind at Ascot speedway yesterday and the machine crashed over the retaining wall Gordon died a short time later his skull fractured chest crushed His mechanic Spider Matlock known as the man of a thousand crack ups is in a critical condition

Many times the 34 year old driver had beaten the accident jinx In three starts in the Indianapolis Speedway championships he went over the wall Each time he grinned The first time was in 1932 the next in 1934 Last year traveling 120 miles an hour he crashed over the wall and was thrown from his machine Laughing about the accident later he related

I didn't have much time to think—I remember though saying Damn it now I'll have to wait until next year The next year was to have been this year

BY ANNE ADAMS

VERSATILE TWO PIECER REDUCES NEED FOR LARGE WARDROBE

It always takes two to start things—and so with this two-piece frock, which presents its own economy angle in being smart enough, versatile enough to take the place of several wardrobe items. Was ever a blouse softer or more flattering—its bow more feminine? And the simple skirt—what better inducement to beginners? Gathers for bodice fullness—darts for waistline trimness, and a belt with shiny buckle to nip smartly about your slim waist. Fashioned of light color monotone silk, crepe or synthetic, it's a frock to hold its own at any afternoon function, or appear for informal wear from dusk to midnight. Also charming in a print!

Pattern 2660 is available in sizes 14, 16, 18, 20, 32, 34, 36, 38, 40 and 42. Size 16 takes 4⅜ yards 39-inch fabric. Illustrated step-by-step sewing instructions included.

Send fifteen cents (15c) in coins or stamps (coins preferred) for this Anne Adams pattern. Write plainly name, address and style number. Be sure to state size.

Be sure to order our spring pattern book for smart new clothes that'll fit you and your needs to a "T"! Gay, practical frocks to cheer you at work. Lovely party frocks and sports clothes to flatter you at play. Collars, blouses, skirts for multiplying costumes. Chic slenderizing styles. Patterns for tots. Fabric and accessory news. Price of book fifteen cents. Book and a pattern together, twenty-five cents.

Address orders to The Marion Star, Pattern Department, 243 W. 17th St., New York, N. Y.

SO YOU AND MAC WERE TALKING ABOUT ME - MY EARS WERE BURNING
IF YOU'D HAVE COME A LITTLE SOONER YOU'D BE BURNING UP
WELL, I DID SELL YOU A LOT OF SILK - SUPPOSE I SAID I WAS SORRY?
WELL, SUPPOSE YOU DID - THEN WHAT? I'VE STILL GOT A LOT OF SILK I CAN'T SELL
TO SHOW YOU HOW MUCH I SYMPATHIZE WITH YOU I'LL BUY IT BACK - WHAT D'YA SAY?
YOU KEEP YOUR SYMPATHY AND I'LL KEEP THE SILK - GOOD-BYE
OH, DEAR, WHY CAN'T I CONTROL MY TEMPER?
